COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER. Mr. J. Roger Deas, an official of the American Can company, will be Warren high school's commencement speaker this year. Mr. Deas has a varied background in business, government and education. At one time he was employed as research secretary to Chief Justice Earl Warren who was then Governor of California. He also served as an associate consultant to the founding delegation of the United Nations. The date of commencement is the 8th of June.

After Record is Bruce Duell, Warren's top man in the 880 yd. run. Last year Duell was right behind holder Rod Morley (2 min. 1.4 sec.) in most of the meets. Here you see the Warren thinclad hitting the tape in 2 min. 12.6 sec. at the recent triangular duel. Right behind him is Joe Kulbacki, Youngsville sprinter.

Warren continues to be a tough foe for its opposition. The Dragons have won twenty consecutive meets in the last three seasons, nineteen of these since Coach Loyal Briggs took over.

Black, Glen Nelson, James Deigan, William Houston, Wendell Peterson and Gail Cobb.

The new board and officers will take office on May 20, and will be formally installed at the annual Inaugural Dinner-Dance on Saturday, May 22.

Those retiring from the board at that time are: Alan Blair, John Smith, George Templeton, Jr., John Newmaker, Charles Swanson, and Tom Hamilton.

IS THIS A WINNER? Jaycee's scrapbook committee chairman Allen Anderson views one of the two books that left by plane Tuesday afternoon for Philadelphia where they will be submitted to the scrapbook awards committee at the state convention. Over the nation, Jaycees compile scrapbooks on their projects of the year. These are judged on the basis of practical content, not beauty. Last year Warren took first place in the state, and placed high in the nation. Anderson pointed out that the bulk of the work on the book was done by: Alan Blair and Robert Harrison. Dick Corcoran who is a member of the state scrapbook judging committee took the books with him Tuesday as he left for the convention.

ty Giancotti, Margaret Scalise, Susan Ott, Charlene Prigent; third row, Carol Saglimbene, Larry Mong, and Terry Gannoe. Terry Gannoe will be special representative. The date of the convention is May 1.

Everyday Psychology

by Dr. Norman C. Morgan

The other day my five year old and I were out for a walk. The book says you should do this to give a child companionship, but I do it because I like to go for walks and he just tags along.

We chanced upon a couple of squirrels who were busily eating last year's maple seeds. Naturally we stopped as people do. The boy kept challenging their boldness until one squirrel scampered up a tree and darted into a hole in a limb.

This created a new interest for us and after awhile the squirrel's face appeared at the hole as she peered about hastily before venturing out on the tree. It became a great sport because every time she came out the boy could scare her back in. It was something like hide-and-seek.

Meanwhile I was philosophyzing about the facts of squirrel life and wondering if there were already some young ones up inside that limb. And I was wondering what the squirrels thought of us. At least, I thought to myself about the boy's somewhat cruel sport, the squirrels won't say its because he's a psychiatrist's son.

Finally it grew dark and we both knew it was time to finish our walk. As we turned to go, the boy's only comment about the adventure was, "Hmmm, they don't get to close no door, do they?"

I was on the verge of laughing when it occurred to me that he was really making a nice little observation on the fact that there are different styles of living. Because he was serious and did not mean it as a joke. He had made a genuine observation that it is possible to have a dwelling and at the same time not bother with a door.

I swelled with pride as I thought of the real tolerance my boy was developing. Live and let live, all at the age of five. I had it all figured out that when he looks at pictures of South Sea islanders entering and leaving their huts without any doors he won't think "Oh, those poor uncivilized people without any modern conveniences, not even a screen door". My sophisticated youngest, I thought to myself, will draw upon his sociological memory and say "Hmmm, those lucky people are as free as the squirrels in the woods; they don't have to bother with heavy doors that stick and are hard to reach!"

I guess what started this whole thing going in my mind like this was something that had happened earlier that day. For one thing I was reflecting on the chronic shortage of nurses, a fact that all of us in the medical field think about quite often. I was comparing that with the fact that negro candidates have a harder time getting trained than white girls of equal ability and in many places cannot get a job when they graduate.

I guess that did not have anything to do with doors, but perhaps it did have something to do with a five year old's kind of simple logic. I am not much in favor of having tonsils taken out, but if my boy had to be in a hospital I am sure he would accept food and comfort from anyone who offered him a friendly smile.

Jamestown Firm Misrepresents

Corset-type back supporters and braces sold under the name "Philo Burt Appliance" and "Spinal Appliance" will not cure spinal tuberculosis, spinal deformities, arthritis of the spine, lordosis or spinal curvature, the Federal Trade Commission said today and ordered advertisements making claims of this nature stopped.

The order is directed against Philo Burt Manufacturing Company, Jamestown, N. Y.

The Commission denied the company's appeal and affirmed the findings and order of Hearing Examiner John Lewis.

Under the order, the company may not represent that its devices will cure other conditions such as backache, contraction of the muscles, weariness or fatigue, spinal irritation, spinal weakness, inflamed spine or injury to the spine.

In addition, the order prohibits unqualified claims that the devices constitute a competent or effective treatment for these conditions. Such representations must be limited to cases where:

(1) the particular condition or symptom has been disclosed by a competent physician as one requiring the wearing of a support;

(2) the type of support sold by Burt is recommended by the physician;

(3) the proper measurements have been made by Burt, the physician or some other properly qualified persons; and

(4) the support is used in conjunction with other necessary treatment measures as prescribed by the physician.

Other claims forbidden are to the effect that the use of Burt's devices will cure or will be of any significant value in the treatment of extreme sensitiveness of the skin, sensations of uneasiness, tingling, girdle pains, itching, headache, sleeplessness or loss of sleep, melancholy, spine sensitive to pressure, feeling of irritation, muscular weakness, fidgets, sudden starts, cramps in the legs or abdomen, sensations of heat and cold, skin flushed and hot, clammy sweats, worry, indigestion, loss of appetite, outbursts of temper, forgetfulness, or distaste for either work or society.

The Commission noted that the company's business is "small," its annual gross sales amounting to approximately $30,000. The Commission said, however, that "in cases of this type the extent of public interest is not controlled entirely by the total sales of the company involved. This respondent has made claims for permanent relief of serious back diseases and disorders by the use of a device which, if used without proper diagnosis, fitting and other more basic treatment measures, could make the condition worse. The public interest in such matters is great even though the gross sales are comparatively small."

The Commission likewise took note of the company's request for informal settlement of the case but rejected it on the ground that the company had not complied with a 1937 stipulation in which it had agreed to stop misrepresenting its devices.

"Under these circumstances," the decision states, "the Commission believes that this formal proceeding is required in the public interest."

Salmon Coming Down?

The Federal Trade Commission has announced its approval of a consent order terminating a combination in restraint of trade in the multi-million dollar Alaska salmon industry. The consent order was supported by forty-one canning companies, their trade association, the Alaska Salmon Industry, Inc., and eight unions of fishermen.

Members of this association can or do pack over half the salmon in Alaska canneries, and price fixing is carried out through the help of the union. The order forbids agreements on minimum prices, either in purchasing the fish or for canning them.

Salmon fishing and canning comprise the territory's largest industry, which in turn is an important factor in the economy of this nation. The capital investment in Alaska salmon fisheries is one hundred million dollars. It employs twenty thousand people, of whom fourteen thousand are fishermen. In 1952 they packed 3,250,000 cases, containing forty-eight cans each, and with a wholesale value of ninety-five million.

This is an example of what a government can do to protect that competitive system of which we proudly speak, and toward which we point as the true backbone of our economy.

Up Will Go Your Gas bill if a recent ruling of the Federal Power Commission is extended to all pipe lines, and if an appeal doesn't result with successful results. The FPC in the case of the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. changed the rate base it had used since the 1939 Natural Gas Act was enacted. The change granted the Company an annual rate increase of over twelve million dollars. You know who will pay that!

Though the cost of development always has been used and repeatedly has been upheld by the Supreme Court, the FPC now has allowed the use of what is called the "fair field" value of reserves. If this now is applied in other cases it won't take long for the hike to get around to the sixty million natural gas consumers.

The method has been stoutly denounced as wholly unjustified by Claude Draper, one member of the commission who is an authority on regulatory problems. The strange part about it is that the change has been effected by the appointment of men who are friendly to big business. Yet Mr. Draper has been on the commission since 1930, when he was appointed by Herbert Hoover.

Interesting TV

The March of Medicine program which will be seen over Buffalo's TV this evening at ten will have something of interest to at least fourteen million people. They are the sufferers of arthritis and rheumatism. These diseases will be discussed by widely known medical authorities.

Variety TV

Altoona management announces that it has arranged interconnections for basic live programs of four networks. To be seen over Channel 10 will be ABC, NBC, CBS, and Dumont shows.

The Dust Storms in the west and the repetition of events which occurred twenty years ago suggest that we have short memories, writes our Washington correspondent, Tom Stokes. He reminds us that the heavy planting to reap World War I wheat profits left an arid land with drought conditions sending caravans onto the highways to escape the dust bowl. The government stepped in under President Roosevelt, purchased nearly a million acres, and created the Soil Conservation Service to protect the land.

Then came the second World War and again the prices were too inviting. So-called "suitcase farmers" arrived to make quick killings. Three-fourths of the land was farmed by comparative newcomers. They paid high prices for land because they could get it back in a hurry. They had little respect for soil. They were after the buck.

Now we are back there again with a dust bowl and a problem. Again the government is stepping in and instead of a million acres they are talking of turning six to eight million acres to grass. And another campaign will be needed to urge the people to protect our national heritage the soil, which feeds us.

FRONT LINES. Very much in the front line fight against cancer these days is the service committee, which Martha H. Lupold, pictured at the right, serves as loan closet chairman, a work she has been doing for the past five and a half years with no remuneration. To facilitate this work the Warren County Cancer Service now has an office open every week day, from nine to five, with Mina Rieder, at the left, as executive secretary.

Miss Rieder started her new job on April 1. Previous to that she performed similar tasks on a volunteer basis in her spare time, and is fully familiar with the work.

The service committee provides sick room equipment for cancer patients who are being cared for at home. There is no charge. Equipment includes beds, wheel chairs, cane, crutches, and items of comfort for the patients.

There also are sterilized dressings, ambulance transportation for treatment purposes, and sedation is offered if recommendation is received from a doctor.

The committee has been greatly helped by such groups as the Business and Professional Women's Club which holds meetings for the purpose of making dressings. These are sterilized at no cost by the Warren General hospital.

Disposable pads in large numbers have been made and donated by the women's sewing group of the First Presbyterian church, and the Jo Slatry Study Club of the Catholic church.

These services may be obtained by calling Warren 2107, or by visiting the office, which is located on the second floor of the Warren Service Center, 404 Market st.

Despite the large amount of volunteer work and contributions represented here there still is much need of money. With the final week of the annual cancer fund drive swiftly passing, now is a good time to send a check or a bill to this group which is battling a dangerous killer, a killer that touches one out of every seven people.

MOON CASE. Mr. Samuel D. Bramer, attorney for Norman Moon, slayer of Judge Allison D. Wade, brought his new assistant, T. A. Waggoner, to the Warren county jail late yesterday afternoon for a conference with Moon inside the jail. Bramer and Waggoner were accompanied by local attorney E. H. Beshlin, and Mr. J. B. Nathan. Left to right in the picture, Thomas A. Waggoner, of Uniontown, Pa., who is assistant defense attorney, J. B. Nathan, Samuel D. Bramer, and Warren Attorney E. H. Beshlin.

LATE SPORT

Warren's Hot Stove league had its weekly meeting last evening with an inspiring group of 30 team handlers attending. The report of this week's registrations showed 624 area boys ready to play ball. There was much confusion in the Wards during the signing of these boys so it was voted to extend registration until next Wednesday.

If you want to join contact your local chairman immediately. A new look this season will be a batting helmet protectors which the bantams and midget players will be required to wear while at bat. The various baseball fields were taken into consideration and a report will be given on the improvement next week.

The adult membership drive shows only 70 adult tickets sold at the present time. It needs more support by the community. The next meeting will be on Wednesday, May 5, at the Trinity Memorial Parish.

You Will See the Penn York league in action again this year. Six teams have answered the call, including the Ludlow Wildcats, Marlin Rockwell, the Jamestown Bombers, Sherman, Salamanca, and Erie. At the last meeting Lester McArthur of Ludlow was voted president for the coming year, succeeding Rabbit Swanson of Warren.

More Bowling Bob Check, of Warren, took over first place in the Falconer sweeps, Tuesday, with 1040 for five games. The tournament ends this weekend. Pete Juliano is fifth with 934. This weekend two Warren Elk teams visit Toledo for the organization's national event.

Winding up the K of C leagues, Fred Aumer led the American division with 570 and Myer Pappalardo had 556 in the National. Next Wednesday the St. Francis and Holy Cross teams roll off for the National title, the winner to meet Fordham, American leader.

Dave Fink hit 663 and Bob Hill had 624 to give the Jackson Keystone team the Junior Industrial crown, 2812 to 2673 for Weiser's Service. Lee Munch shot 603 to lead the final night of regular bowling. The Ladies Class C was won by B and B Smoke Shop, with Janet Mellander topping the final scoring with 451. Paul Robillard led the Shop league scoring with 536.

The money we lent our Country has bought our richest rewards

We were just trying to keep our Country strong and prepared when we bought our first Defense Bonds. Those were the uneasy days of 1941, thirteen years ago this month. It was only after V-J Day that we began to realize that we were doing far more with our Bond buying than lending our Country cash for the war effort. Here's what we saw happening:

All over America new homes were being built with Bonds. Farms were producing more crops with Bond-bought machinery. Sons and daughters were getting extra schooling. And the dream of a business of his own was coming true for many a man who had Bonds to give him a start.

U. S. Savings Bonds have helped Americans save on a brand new scale—a record unmatched anywhere in the world!

Besides helping our Country's emergency needs, besides helping us own and do things we had only dreamed of before, today more U. S. Savings Bonds are held in our hands than ever before in the history of these thirteen years—thirty-seven billion dollars worth of them!

Last year we bought 22% more Bonds than the year before; and the figures show that we are holding our Bonds for maximum return—three-fourths of all matured E Bonds are still being held at interest by their original owners.

It's a happy anniversary for America's Bond buying habit.

If you're not already buying Bonds—try the easy Payroll Savings Plan.

You may save any sum you wish—a couple of dollars a payday or as much as you can spare. You never miss the money because it's saved for you—before you even get your check.

And when enough has accumulated, it's automatically invested in a Series E Bond, in your name, and the Bond is turned over to you. Then your savings really go to work—earning you an average 3% interest, compounded semiannually, when the Bonds are held to maturity! Building greater security every day!

Eight million workers everywhere save by buying Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan, with the help of 45,000 employers. If you do not have the Plan in your plant or office, ask your employer to write for details to:

This chart shows only a few typical examples of savings goals and how to reach them through Payroll Savings. Remember, you can save any sum you wish, from a couple of dollars a payday up to as much as you want. The important thing is, start your Plan today!

Washington And You

By Margaret Chase Smith

WASHINGTON. -- More than seven months ago I warned of the impending crisis in Indo-China. I tried then to present the facts to the American people as I knew them and from time to time since then.

Several weeks ago, through my questioning General Nathan F. Twining, Air Force Chief of Staff, at a committee hearing brought out the fact that the Air Force had sent technicians to Indo-China. That led to other facts being given to the American people about the extent and degree of our aid to the French and Viet Nam forces in Indo-China.

Surely, it is only good sense that one of the best ways to meet our national and international problems is to give the American people the facts. The crux of the Indo-China problem for us is this: the more we increase our aid to the French and Viet Nam forces who are resisting the attacks of the Communist Viet Minh (and, we suspect, the Communist Chinese), who are directed by the Russian Communists from the Kremlin, the greater the risk that we may get involved in that war.

Yet, on the other hand, if we merely sit by and give no aid to those forces who are resisting the Communists in Indo-China, then it is almost certain that the Reds will take over in Southeast Asia.

We must not let Indo-China fall to the Communists. We must not throw up our hands in despair. We should give the anti-Communist forces in Indo-China as much aid in materials and supplies as we can so that French and Viet Nam Soldiers will have the armaments with which to fight. This keeps our own military manpower from being drained off in attrition of warfare in the jungles of Indo-China while the Reds in the Kremlin watch in vulturelike fashion as they save their own Russian manpower.

If the manpower of the French and the Viet Nam is not sufficient to man a winning defense for Indo-China, then I believe we should use the Nationalist China forces of Chiang Kai-shek who are now on the island of Formosa being fed and supplied with American dollars. Chiang has offered his troops in the past for the defense of freedom in Asia. And in terms of psychological warfare it is surely better to have Nationalist China soldiers participating in the defense of Indo-China than to have American soldiers bearing the brunt.

Since the only really basic and legitimate issue of the people of Indo-China against France is that of the colonialism they hate, I believe that France should promise the Associated States of Laos, Cambodia and Viet Nam their full independence, and as soon as possible should give it to them.

If France were to do this, then psychologically the rug would be pulled from under the Communist forces, whose only attraction at all to some of the people of Indo-China is the phony Communist cry that they will abolish colonialism. France can take the initiative. And surely it would be better for France to give Indo-China independence and remove colonialism than it would be for France to give up and pull out of Indo-China and surrender that area to the Reds.

HE SERVED WELL. Mr. Homer Mohr, who has served the Warren County T. B. and Health Society for 12 years as executive secretary announced his retirement from that position last week. During his long service, the society failed to meet its goal only once and that was during the depression.

OUTDOORS

Almost Spring
We must admit that it has been mighty fine spring weather lately, but we have little faith in the spring or summer staying with us until we see the southern birds come flying back. In this respect the robin is the biggest faker on wings, but you can't blame Mr. Redbreast for the ignorance of his two legged friends. They just can't get it through their heads, even though they have been told at least once a year by some hep reporter, that many robins never do go south.

Of course this is offset by the trite-minded reporter who insists on annually filling a gap with a startling news item to the effect that spring must be coming because a robin was seen in February. The old boy probably got tired of his swampland and just came out on a sunny day to see if all was right with the world and maybe someone spilled a crumb into the backyard.

But when you see those big mouthed birds floating in the sky, the warm weather really is here. They feed on bugs and bugs aren't easy to come by in March or April. You may get bitten now and then by a stray mosquito who jetted in from a nearby marsh, but you can't feed many birds on such fare.

When we hear those diving wings whistling and see a few feathered ones dead-sticking it for a succulent bit of entomology we can turn off the thermostat and moth-proof our heavies. The sun will be on for keeps.

Where's That Fish?
Who is going to beat that fish we pictured last week? It was 22 1-2 inches long and certainly not unbeatable. To repeat our offer: Beat that fish and you will earn a dollar. And for every fish brought to the Observer office for photographing there will be a dollar if it exceeds the length of the preceding picture. Several dollars can be made a week this way.

And the final winner will receive something he wants from a merchant in his community. He can name it, boots, reel, rod, net, plug, bait pail, or a combination of such equipment.

Bring in your catch! Beat That Fish!

How To Catch Crawlers
Picking up those night crawlers is just about as exciting for the small fry as the next day's fishing. In fact, half the fun of a fishing trip is the planning and preparations.

A bright light and alert eyes can pick up quite a load of worms when the grass is damp and the soil is rich and loose. But there are nights when those juicy morsels that tempt the hungry fish don't seem anxious to be seen, cached, and hooked.

One of the most common ways of pushing your luck just a bit is to carry a garden spade along. You don't have to turn any sod. Just put the spade into the grass at about a forty-five degree angle and work it back and forth a few times. Mr. Worm will do the obvious thing and make a swift to the roof, far from those steel prongs that are earthquaking his cellar.

If some one has a better way, let us pass it onto the wormless.

DST Affects Chuck Hunting Hours
Game authorities remind wood-chuck hunters whose time pieces are set for Daylight Saving Time: all shooting hours for wild game in Pennsylvania are based on Eastern Standard Time. Therefore, on April 26th the current 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. game hunting hours, set by law, became 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. according to Daylight Saving Time.

From July 1st to September 30th inclusive, however, game shooting hours will be 6 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. "slow time," or 7 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. "fast time."

Black Ringneck Outsmarts Crows
A game protector named Arthur T. Biondi tells this: "A Mercer County ringneck cock often surprises crows that invade his stamping grounds in the area of Leach's Corners, near Greenville.

"The plumage of this male ringneck is almost jet black. He doesn't have the customary white neck ring but he does sport the long cock bird tail. He lords it over a harem of 12 hen pheasants. Every time crows alight in the field where he and his lady friends are he sneaks up on them. Because of his black feathers the crows pay no attention. But when the ringneck rooster gets close enough there is always one crow that takes an awful flogging. The crow's best bet is to get loose and flee the country, fast. Crows that have tangled with the black king of the ringneck family don't return for a re-match."

PLAY TIME

Maybe it was Betty Grable.... or Lauren Bacall..... or Marilyn Monroe. Or maybe it was Bob Bloom, sound technician for Warner Brothers, but we found the second cinemascope picture shown at the Library to be a great improvement. In fact, it got so quiet at times we had difficulty hearing Marilyn, Lauren, and Betty.

But when such a trio cuddle up in a threesome in a single scene, sound is of little consequence, as any healthy, vigorous, and drooling male will attest. And it also may explain why this one didn't seem too close, as was the case with Pilate, the emperor, and his legions.

It doesn't take much to bring an emperor too close, but Marilyn, Lauren, and Betty.....

Sharpen Up Your Pictures

One of the major departments of the Woman's Club Talent Recognition Show is the competition for photographs, a field in which more talent may be apparent. This isn't necessarily due to the lack of latent talent, but people are more apt to go through the process of learning to snap and develop pictures than they are either to think they can paint or go to the trouble of buying the materials and devoting the training time to find out.

If you are one of those who have found photography a satisfying hobby, or if you just shoot a "good" one now and then, it is time to be giving the annual art show some thought. It opens May 13 for three days, and your pictures must be ready very soon.

To be ready they must be either 8 by 10 or 11 by 14 inches, they must have a title, must be mounted on cardboard suitable for hanging, and you are limited to three entries. They also must be brought to the Woman's Club on May 9 or 10, to allow time for arranging and judging.

Whambo!

Warren is taking a jounce in its recreation wind this summer when several top-notch leaders leave for other jobs and lives. Marty Sable, whose gym work for Warren high school has been outstanding, will take a summer job at Sunset Camp on Edinboro lake, then will study under a fellowship at Ohio University while she also teaches part time.

Jane Black, Beaty gym teacher, is leaving, and so is Jean Morse, Y Teen director, who also is taking a summer job at Edinboro where she will head up the evening programs.

Reminding us that two Warren girls will be leaders at the Sunset camp. One is Margory Wilson, now a junior at Slippery Rock, who will teach tennis and archery, and Sally Tome, who is a freshman at Oberlin, where she is majoring in voice, and will help with the programs at Sunset.

Meanwhile, Warren searches for a playground director.

Conffliction

Monday evening was an excellent example of what we mean when we claim Warren needs a community calendar. The Philomel brought Eunice Podis, well known young pianist to town. The same evening an instrumental concert was given by Beaty junior high school and grade school musicians.

No one benefitted by such a schedule. It was inevitable that there would be some who wanted to be at both places. Both the audience and those presenting the programs were the losers.

The last community calendar effort lost out when too little publicity was given to it, and newcomers failed to appreciate how valuable a civic service they were allowing to go unheeded. Something is about to be done about this and we hope that Warren, and Warren county, will cooperate.

Truth or Consequences on TV

Truth or Consequences, one of radio's first audience-participation programs, will be presented as a television feature on WBEN-TV every Tuesday night at 10 o'clock, beginning May 18. The video version of Ralph Edwards' 14-year-old radio stunt show will feature Jack Bailey as emcee, and replaces "Judge for Yourself."

Bailey has been chosen for the emcee role by Edwards because of Ralph's other commitments. Edwards, however, will supervise and act as executive producer of the TV series in addition to his active roles on other programs. Bailey, who has had a colorful background as a circus barker, professional musician, house painter, actor, tax expert and honorary mayor of Hollywood, is best known as emcee for his radio "Queen for a Day" program and as the voice of "Goofy" in various Walt Disney film cartoons.

Bergen and McCarthy Star In 'Alice in Wonderland'

Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy will narrate and participate in their version of "Alice in Wonderland" as the seventh-anniversary program of the Kraft Television Theater Wednesday evening, May 5, at 9 o'clock. The unique presentation will contain many of the storybook characters from Lewis Carroll's whimsical story—The Mad Hatter, March Hare and the others.

UNUSUAL COLLECTION. Miss Katherine Lott is pictured with her rare collection of first editions of Frank R. Stockton, now at Warren's Public Library. To the average reader, Frank Stockton and "The Lady or The Tiger" are synonymous. But there is far more to this author than one short story with its up-to-the-reader to decide ending. He has written many fairy tales, one of the best of them being the story of A Queen and her efforts to get her subjects interested in her museum. To tell you what was in her collection in her museum would spoil the story. He wrote books on the South, Lusty Tales of Pirates, and a science fiction book that suggested inventions which science has since exploited without the least idea that this enterprising romancing had thought of them first.

PHILOMEL CONCERT. Pictured are the attractive girls who served as ushers Tuesday evening as Warren music lovers were given very deftly turned selections from the classic masters... by Miss Eunice Podis, Cleveland concert artist. Miss Podis's appearance was sponsored by the Philomel club. The

OPEN HOUSE. All are invited to visit this attractive dwelling next Sunday afternoon. It is the new parsonage of the Youngsville Evangelical United Brethren church, which will be dedicated at a three o'clock service, followed by the open house. Numerous church dignitaries will be present to assist in the ceremonies.

PROGRESSIVE CHURCH. This is the Youngsville Evangelical United Brethren church which next Sunday dedicates its new parsonage. Members of the church are to be congratulated on the fine residence they have provided their pastor and his family.

Dedicate New Parsonage For Youngsville Church

The new parsonage of the Youngsville Evangelical United Brethren church will be dedicated Sunday with Bishop D. T. Gregory giving the sermons for three services, including the dedication service at three o'clock in the afternoon.

Also participating in the services will be Dr. S. Paul Weaver, Erie Conference superintendent, and the Rev. H. V. Lindquist, pastor of the Youngsville church.

Members of the church invite all people of the area to attend the services and to visit the parsonage. The new home for the Rev. and Mrs. Lindquist was completed in March and they moved in on April 1. It is an attractive building, designed by Freeburg and Lindquist, Jamestown architects, and constructed by Lawrence F. Olson, a specialist in church building contracting. Summerson and Luvison and Oscar V. Colander were other contractors involved.

The usual Sunday morning service will be held at 11 a. m., with Bishop Gregory and Dr. Weaver participating and with Rev. Lindquist presiding. Miss Treva McKinney will be the organist and Mrs. Donald McKinney the choir director.

The dedication service will be held at three o'clock, and will be followed by an open house. In addition to those mentioned in the morning program there will be a scripture lesson by the Rev. Clair Warner, Warren-Jamestown District leader, and there will be numbers by the senior choir and the men's chorus.

The actual parsonage dedication will include the declaration by Bishop Gregory, the responsive reading by the pastor's family, dedication of the parsonage, prayer of dedication by Dr. Weaver, a selection by the chorus, and the benediction by Bishop Gregory.

In the evening a friendship service will be held at 7:30. This will include organ numbers by Miss McKinney, a song service led by Rev. Lindquist, the evening prayer by James Thompson, a selection by the men's chorus, and the sermon by Bishop Gregory.

NEW HOME. The Rev. and Mrs. Harold V. Lindquist are seen in front of their new residence, the Evangelical United Brethren church parsonage in Youngsville, into which they moved April 1. Dedication services will be held Sunday, and all are invited to the open house which will follow the afternoon dedication ceremony.

McCarthy Exposes McCarthy
WASHINGTON — Outstanding among impressions of the Senator Joe McCarthy-Army investigation is the revelation in dramatic form, day by day, so that all now can see, of the powerful and dangerous figure the Senator from Wisconsin had become.

The past tense — "had" — is used purposely, even if prematurely. For it no longer seems risky to forecast that his influence is likely to diminish henceforth. This is because of the current television performance before the American people — and that is as much due to self-revelation as through testimony of others about his activities and those of his staff.

It must be frightening to the American people, and make them shudder in backward glance, to see how this one man, recklessly exploiting the power that the voters of one state conferred upon him, had cowed the top civilian and military command of the Department of the Army.

It is unfortunate that we had to learn the hard way — that is, by washing all the dirty linen in public. It has been disillusioning, indeed, to learn in minute detail, in incident after incident, how the Army, from the Secretary on down, devoted hours and hours to try to please the Senator and his counsel, Roy Cohn. It becomes ridiculous because of the picayunish nature of the mission assigned by Messrs. McCarthy and Cohn — first, to find some way to keep a wealthy young man on the Senator's staff from the draft, and, second, after he finally went into the Army, to have him showered with special privileges.

But Private G. David Schine — as he now is — has unwittingly done his country and its people a service by becoming a symbol, in perhaps the most absurd way possible, of the extremities to which Senator McCarthy was willing to go to show his power.

Kowtowing to his whim casts no glory on the Army, rather the contrary. Disinterested observers can see that plainly. Whether the Senate investigating committee will eventually comment critically in its report is, of course, uncertain. Senators expect government departments, including that of the Army, to accede to their requests and wishes. That is normal. In this case the Army did go far, very far, jumping quickly when the voice of the Wisconsin Senator came on at the other end of the line, or even that of one of his stooges. Senators would not want to discourage the normal obsequiousness, if not always expecting the McCarthy treatment.

As for the Army, it is taught always to be polite and say "Yes, sir," to Congress and all of its members, no matter how rude and uncouth the member may be. This is for a simple reason — Congress votes the money. It might be pointed out, too, that we have in the White House now an Army career man who grew up in the be-nice-to-Congress tradition.

Finally, however, that President did get his back up, and the Army did, too, and for that a large part of the public is appreciative. So, too, did other Senators on the McCarthy investigating committee stiffen their spines. They no longer sit supinely by, as most of them did in months past when Senator McCarthy was making a circus out of the decencies and individual rights. Firmly, but courteously, they are insisting that the Senator stick to his role of cross-examiner, cutting off his attempts at stump speeches.

Perhaps the best job being done on Senator McCarthy now is that being done by Senator McCarthy.

He is being himself, and a view of that day after day on television should, in time, fully reveal him to the public at large as he is known by those who have watched him here.

The bully in the Senator comes out plainly as he tries to take over an investigation in which he is, himself, on trial, and as he interrupts constantly with silly "points of order" to get into the act. The sly trickster in him, so well known here, comes out as he seeks to divert the testimony from the issue and as he smugly resorts to innuendoes and half-truths to cast suspicion. How his tactics have become stamped with his own trade mark was no better exemplified than by the snickers that ran through the audience in the hearing room when he objected solemnly to "hearsay evidence."

Seeing the "McCarthy entourage" on television is illuminating, and so is finding out more about their activities. Such, for example, as the boast of Roy Cohn, as quoted by Secretary of Army Stevens, that "I have access to FBI files when I want them". The committee — and the public — is going to want to know if he was speaking truthfully there, for that is strictly forbidden.

Warren Trackmen Continue Strong

This week the Warren thinclads captured two meets to extend their string of victories to twenty in a row over a span of three seasons. Against Titusville the Dragons copped ten first out of fourteen places and went on to take an easy 79-39 triumph over the Rockets. The locals were victors in all the dashes and relay events. In fact, two Titusville boys kept Warren from taking all the top honors. Wayne Morris won the shot and discus while teammate Hopkins took the high and broad jumps.

Oil City came to Warren on Tuesday and gave the Dragons a scare before bowing, 68-50, on a wet and slippery field. Warren took the first five running events but ran into trouble in the field. Warren had only a seven-point lead until John Fisher, Stan McClelland, and Jeff Homan made a clean sweep in the javelin. Surprisingly the Oilers won all three places in the high jump at 4 ft., 10 in. The Blue and White high jumpers certainly have topped this mark before, but in the last two meets they have slumped badly.

Freshman John Powley with plenty of strength at the finish continues to pace the Dragons in the mile run. Dale Meddock and John Cashman, both sophomores, have improved considerably to give Warren a strong trio in the mile run. Another Warren boy, Phil Stewart, perhaps the most improved letterman in the squad, continues to accumulate points with his speed. He's been a big lift in the 180 low hurdles, 440 dash, and mile relay.

Warren goes to Smethport on Saturday and faces tough competition from Kane, Youngsville, and Smethport in a quadrangular meet. Warren may run into trouble in the dashes, especially the 100 where Dick Wood of Youngsville rates with the best. In the mile run, Moran of Kane came fourth in the state tourney last year. He's only a junior and gave Warren a bad time in the triangular meet at Bradford last season. The field events for the Dragons have not been up to expectations. Perhaps in this meet they will come alive.

Youngsville had its meet with Titusville canceled this week. The Eagles go to Southwestern on May 8. Warren invades Jamestown next Tuesday, travels to Titusville on Friday May 7, and goes to Oil City on May 11. They return to the Beaty oval, May 14, with Jamestown the opposition.

Coming Up At The Warren Y

It was announced this week that the Warren YMCA will have a special invitational swimming championship on Saturday, May 15, starting at 1:30.

The reason for this event is the great need for developing aquatics in the small associations. A great number of area YMCA's will participate. This championship affair is open to the public to watch. Awards of ribbons will go to the winners of first, second, and third places. More information on this next week.

This Saturday the cadets, juniors, and seniors, have the "All-Day" achievement program. It will cost you absolutely nothing to see your boy perform in the track and swimming races and he may win one of the ribbons awarded to the top three winners of each event. The program starts at ten o'clock.

The Warren Y has twenty boys trying out for its gymnastic team. Practices are on Monday and Thursday nights. You still have a chance to try out. Jack Bean, Ray Billstone and Herb Pfuhl are in charge of this team.

We were informed that Warren may have the state's gymnastics championship tournament next year.

Quickies

The Ludlow Wildcats begin their spring drills Tuesday, May 4. All local baseball hopefuls are asked to be present at six o'clock, at Wildcat Park. The first game of the season is set for Memorial Day, May 30. All Sunday and holiday contests will be played at Ludlow starting at three o'clock.

Warren's Beagle Club had a field trial at the Lake Erie Beagle ground this week and the results showed Joe Lawson's dog placing first, Charlie Sertare, second, Red Farr, third, Bill Rudolph fourth, and Jack Reddecliff fifth.

A Refresher's Course in life saving taught by Marty Sable is working on its final week. Eleven girls and two boys make up the class. Twenty hours of practice and teaching is required before the final test can be taken.

Warren Can Shoot according to the latest results in the northwest district junior rifle tourney held at the local armory. Thirty-four individuals and seven teams qualified. Warren high school came first with 706. Wayne Smetanka had 183. Roger Swanson 175, Perry Mahaffey 171, and Ray Shaw 177. Beaty Jr. Hi placed fifth with 613, Beaty team number two came sixth with 599, and the Warren Explorer troop had 562.

The Industrial Softball loop of Warren urges all team handlers to be present at the next meeting on May 12. League action starts May 17. The entry fee of $15 must be paid at the next meeting. There is need for more umpires.

For You Racing Fans the Kentucky Derby will be televised over station WBEN-TV, channel four, Buffalo, Saturday, starting at 5:15 p. m.

Receiving Lifesaving merit badges this week were twelve Warren County Boy Scouts. The youngsters had a six-week training period at the Warren Y before passing their final test.

If You Look at last week's Life magazine, you will find a picture of two trout jumping for the same fly, in almost a perfect circle. This picture was taken by Warren's W. Treat Davidson, who also had a number of pix in the Pennsylvania Angler recently.

Warren High Track squad kept its record clean this week with a 68-50 victory over Oil City. This picture shows letterman John Fisher over the bar in the high jump. Warren lost all three places in this event and had to come strong at the end to win.

Saturday the Blue and White is engaged in a quadrangular meet at Smethport with Kane, Youngsville, and Smethport for competition.

Golf Opens

The Conewango Valley Country Club golfers will open their season next Thursday when the men will have their first weekly tournament and dinner. The opening tournament will be a blind bogey, using the Callaway system. The first team match will be played on May 22 when the Jamestown boys will come to Warren.

The ladies open their season with a dinner and nine holes of play on May 12. Their first Northwestern tournament will be played June 17 at Cambridge Springs.

The first combined event for both men and women will be Memorial Day when the annual mixed foursome tournament will be held for the Horace Cray trophy.

Women Bowlers Win

Warren lady keggers gathered in a few dollars from the Frewsburg doubles and singles handicap tournament over the week-end. Rose Juliano and Joan Shetty teamed up for 1091 and a $25 fourth place in the doubles. Red Walsh and Jeannette Harvey earned $10 for sixteenth position with 1042.

Also worth $10 was 1041 for seventeenth, rolled by Vi Sterling and Stella Cerra. Lois Kifer and Rose Driscoll hit 1024 for thirtieth place and $7. Inez Brink and Marg Gould spilled 1014 for thirty-seventh place and $6.

Jeannette Harvey's 551 was the best they could do in the singles. It was 21st and won $7. Inez Brink rolled 539 for 33rd and $5. Stella Cerra had 537 for 37th and $5.

The singles winner was Melba Taylor, of Bradford, with 616. Evelyn Ryberg and Emmy Olson, of Frewsburg, led the doubles with 1146.

League Wind-Up

The City Lines took the Merchants bowling league honors for the season, defeating Links Motors, 2498 to 2448, behind the strike pitching of Louie Bonace, who had 584. Busty Pintagro led the losers with 543.

Coes Paints won the Ladies Minor league crown from the Warren Transfer, J. Mathers leading the champs with 424 and J. Wilson pacing the losers with 409.

OBSERVATIONS

By Bob Walsh

Parking Is Competitive

There really is no parking problem in Warren or any nearby community. That is, there is no parking problem if you don't mind walking two or three blocks to your destination, a distance you probably would be happy to go if you were parking in a large city.

But there is a parking problem to the merchant. He is dealing with the natural instincts, which include a lack of desire to expend any more energy than is necessary. And with cars at our disposal we appreciate the kind of service which takes us to the door of the store.

Build a modern building in which a department store could be housed, plus a restaurant, drug store, service station, grocery, and a news room; provide parking space for five hundred cars on all sides, and with entrances on all sides.... the business will be yours.

This is being done and it threatens to change the face of most communities. Established business blocks will be forced to revolutionize their geography if they are to compete with combined parking-shopping areas.

It may be an expensive proposition, but so is the purchase of a large plot and the erection of a new store. Landowners can team together for the purpose of leveling present buildings and providing parking for existing stores. Of course the question arises: Who stays and who goes, and where does he who goes go? Does he build a shopping-parking store and take the business with him.

There, of course, is the landlord who is pleased by this. Down goes his property value, and his taxes. The upkeep of a slum or semi-slum building is very economical. If he can fill it with low cost housing tenants it is mostly income and very little outgo.

It is a real problem that challenges business men and entire communities. Either they must spend some to keep pace as first grade shopping areas or must sit back and allow evolution change them into third and fourth grade property owners. It can happen here. In fact, it is!

School For Brilliant
American schools are taking long strides in the problems resulting from backward children. We have opportunity rooms, and many schools are availing themselves of psychiatry. We hasten to add that the psychiatrist's services not always are needed for the backward.

We seem, however, to do very little for the young person who is far advanced for his age. In fact we seem to have no idea what to do with him except either to let him move ahead as quickly as possible, or deliberately to hold him back so that he will be associated with those closer to his own age group.

In fact, even some of our curriculum planning suggests that we believe the brilliant student, or the young man or woman who may go to an Ivy school, should not be considered. We apparently believe they will take care of themselves.

For this reason it interests us to learn that the Chautauqua Center of Syracuse University will include a course on education of gifted children. According to Dr. Michael Sawyer, the Center's coordinator, this course considers the problem of providing adequate education for the future leaders of the country.

Warren, Pa.

The program deals with research concerning the psychological growth and development of superior children and the problem of developing educational programs for them.

Though it may not be true that all brilliant students will be leaders, obviously a greater percentage of them will contribute more to our civilization through whatever fields they choose to follow if they are not confined to the routine courses offered the average pupil. It makes sense to this unbrilliant one.

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS OF AMERICA

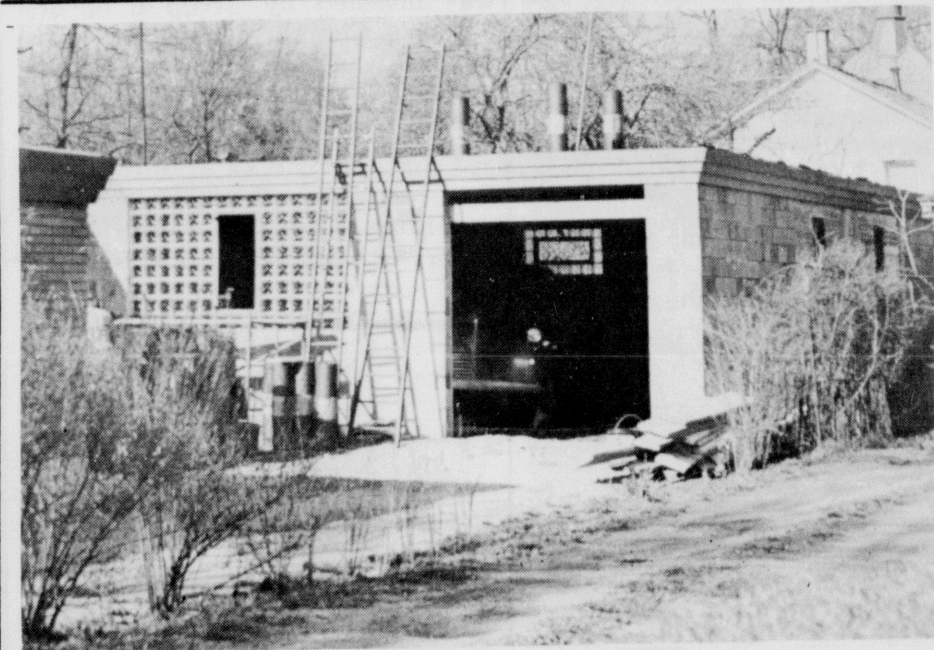

A candle light service was held in the auditorium of the Brokenstraw Valley joint schools April 21 to inaugurate the local commercial clubs entry into the Future Business Leaders of America. The ceremony was conducted by Miss Marilyn Vesling, state president and national vice president, who was accompanied to Youngsville by Mr. Frits, state sponsor.

Four tables labeled "Future", "Business", "Leaders" and "America" were appropriately decorated with a crystal ball, typewriter, dolls dressed in caps and gowns and an American flag respectively to depict the meaning of the four words making up the name of the organization. Four girls from Warren spoke briefly to vividly define these four important words - Future, Business, Leaders and America.

At the climax of the meeting, Miss Vesling presented the charter to the local president, Janet VanGuilder and administered the oath to the newly-elected officers and the other twenty-three members. Serving as Vice president is Janet Pierson, Shirley Jewell is secretary, Barbara Hannold is treasurer and Janet Rodgers serves as reporter.

A visiting installation team from Warren High School included Patty Giacotti, Margaret Scalise, Durelle Graziano, Roberta Elmhurst, Gale Nosel, Pete Pepke, Ed Stanley, Dick Hoover, David Watt, Keith Gibson and Ken Sperry.

WEATHER TIGHT. The roof is on and the weather is no problem to workmen on the Observer's new addition. Radiant heating now is going into the floor and the job should be done early in May. All we will need then will be machines with which to fill it. And work to keep the machines busy.

NEW CHAIRMAN of the Talk of the Month Club is Mr. Samuel Bonavita, Warren Attorney. Mr. Bonavita was presented the office last week at the Club's regular meeting.
